An Introduction To... Teaching Proficiency Through Reading And Story Telling (TPRS)

PRESENTER: Michelle Metcalfe
West Vancouver School District

WORKSHOP CONTENT:

TPRS is a second language teaching methodology that promotes fluency, proficiency and literacy in the target language through the use of role play, personalization, reading and storytelling. In this workshop participants will be introduced to the basic principles of TPRS, as well as some powerful activities and strategies for increasing student success and engagement while bringing joy and laughter to the second language classroom. This workshop is appropriate for all second language teachers, regardless of the level or language taught.

This workshop is intended for those teachers who are new to TPRS. For those who have some experience, or as a follow-up to this workshop, you may be interested in signing up for the afternoon TPRS session.
